Miner Tells Ordeal; Drowning In Fears

EDITOR'S NOTE—Miners Henry Throne and David Fellin suffered pain, hunger and thirst while trapped for two weeks more than 300 feet underground in a Pennsylvania mine. Throne relates his personal story in an exclusive Associated Press Article.

As told to The Associated Press

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — There were times when we saw people that weren't there and lights that weren't there and doors that weren't there.

Imagine seeing a door like a regular house door down in the bottom of a mine!

There was a time we heard rain and it really was rain coming down the drainage pipes and we thought the water would back up and flood the mine and drown us.

And while it was raining, I got mad—I must've been off my rocker a little—and I yelled at Davey, "Davey, I'm going home. I'm going alone if you don't want to come."

But, of course, I wasn't going anywhere. Not then. We were still more than 300 feet down. We still had a week to go before we could stand and walk again, not just sit and crawl, before we could clear the air again and see real light again.

But maybe I better start at the beginning. That's the only way I can get it clear in my own mind. So much got so mixed up later we couldn't tell day from night or Monday from Sunday.

Work At 7:15

That first day, that Tuesday, Aug. 13, I went to work about 7:15 in the morning. It was a nice sunny day. I had no special thoughts, no hunches about something bad. It was just an ordinary working day.

We—that's David Fellin, Louis Bova and me—we got down in the hole about 7:30 and by 8 we had filled the first buggy (a small wagon carrying coal to the surface). We were on the bottom of the mine, in a tunnel, where the sump water collects. Davey and me were on the right side of the shaft and Louis was on the left, separated by the buggy tracks.

Louis rapped three times for the buggy to go up and it went up and dumped the coal. Coming down, it got only half way down. That's when the big rumble started. And all hell broke loose. The timbers on the wall next to us caved in and the timbers on the ceiling above us came down. We just managed to step aside in time as the big chunks of wood and coal and stone fell wildly around us.

Lights Burn Out

We could see Louis on the other side until the power line to our work lights broke. For the next couple of hours we could see a little around us with the lights on our helmets. But then they burned out. Our matches wouldn't burn down there. That was the end of light for the next 5½ days.

In that first hour and a half, we just sat there against the wall while the debris piled higher before us in the tunnel. The rumbling from the cave-in lasted that long. There were others later.

I hollered for Louis but there was no answer. After a while we started crawling over the debris. All our tools—the picks, the bars, the shovels and our lunch pails

Civil Rights In Ann Arbor Face Loitering Charge

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A dozen civil rights demonstrators were booked on loitering charges today for refusing to leave the city hall after closing hours.

The demonstrators spent the night in city council chambers, sitting or sleeping on benches, as part of a 24-hour sit-in to dramatize their demand for a strong anti-discrimination housing ordinance.

City Administrator Guy C. Larcom and Deputy Police Chief Walter Krinsky ordered the demonstrators to leave after a public hearing on the ordinance Tuesday night—warning them repeatedly that remaining in the building overnight was a misdemeanor and would make them subject to arrest.

Police took the names of twelve sit-ins—nine of them white—shortly after midnight. They were released on their own recognizance and told to report today for booking and later arraignment.

China Assured

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio said today he was assured by Communist Chinese Ambassador Yao Chung Ming that China has no intention of resuming military action against India.

Deadly Gas Dims Hope For Rescue Of 25 Miners

MOAB, Utah (AP)—Rescuers ran into deadly carbon monoxide gas today in the depths of a potash mine in which 25 men were entombed by an explosion.

Presence of the gas further dimmed already slim hopes the men would be found alive.

State Mine Inspector Steve Hassis said the gas was discovered at the bottom of the 2,712-foot shaft, one of the largest and deepest in North America.

The missing men are somewhere beyond and below that level in one of two lateral tunnels extending from the base of the main shaft.

Need Air Supply

Before rescuers can go farther, Hassis said, they must establish a new air supply in the main

Varied

MOAB, Utah (AP)—There is a big difference between the underground tombs that trapped the Utah and Pennsylvania miners.

The 25 caught beneath the ground here today are nine times farther down—2,900 feet compared to the 300 at Hazleton.

At Moab, it's almost solid rock for the first 1,400 feet. At Hazleton's mine, it was soft, medium and hard sandstone with soft slate the last 11 feet.

At Hazleton, there was some hope almost from the start—word by voice that Henry Throne, David Fellin and Louis Bova had survived the first shock.

At Moab, there was nothing all from the 25, not a hint that anyone lived through the first explosion.

It was a coal mine at Hazleton, potash here.

He said this would involve installing new tubing in the bottom of the shaft and pumping in fresh

Insurance Firms Vote Aged Pool

ROYAL OAK (AP)—Michigan's life and health insurance companies voted Tuesday to lay the groundwork for a proposed medical coverage plan for senior citizens.

The private firms decided to draw up enabling legislation authorizing domestic insurance companies to offer uniform health insurance policies for people 65 and over. This would be done by a pooling arrangement between the companies, a spokesman said.

The spokesman, John Panchuk of Battle Creek, explained that the legislation is a first step "because insurance companies are prohibited by law from collaborating on coverage and rates in normal competition for business."

The firms had been accused by State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn of "dragging their feet" in developing a joint health and accident program for the aged. Panchuk then termed Colburn "the greatest drawback" to formulation of the plan.

He said the commissioner was just looking for publicity in making the charge.

Panchuk said the plan now under consideration has been adopted in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

He said enabling legislation also is vital in obtaining the cooperation of out-of-state insurance companies. Panchuk added that those firms' participation is needed in the 65-and-over health program "to spread the risk and cost."

He said the Michigan firms assigned the job of drafting the proposed legislation to a legal subcommittee. A report is expected at the firms next meeting in September.

Centennial Proved There's Profit In Working Together

Escanaba's Centennial program not only paid its way and was a success from the standpoint of entertainment, but it demonstrated the capacity of the community's people to work together effectively, said Harold Cloutier, Centennial activities director.

"Hundreds of volunteers on scores of committees showed they could pull together," Cloutier told the Rotary Club at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon. "The Centennial proved in more ways than one that Escanaba has come of age."

He described the development of Centennial planning and organization and said the total financial pictures will be reported to the City Council on Thursday night. An auditing firm is completing its work and a detailed report is being prepared.

Financing Picture

Centennial receipts total $41,578.90, said Cloutier. Expenditures to date (there are still some small bills outstanding and the sales tax to be paid on merchandise sold may run between $400 and $500) total $37,055.49.

In round figures the balance now is $4,500, and there is on hand merchandise estimated to bring in revenues of about $4,000. The Century Book (there are about 2,000 copies as yet unsold) will be put on sale at $2 the copy, he added.

The development of Centennial planning from the declaration by Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe for the observance of 1963 as Escanaba's anniversary year to the many events of Centennial Week were described by Cloutier.

Civil Rights March

The civil rights march in Washington today is a mile-stone in America's struggle for freedom.

"But we've got freedom," many Americans will say. And there must be many persons saying that they wish our Negro citizens wouldn't "stir up trouble."

But the struggle for freedom goes on unendingly and our Negroes and other minority groups will never end their efforts for it until they attain full citizenship. That they haven't had it is obvious.

Our U. S. Supreme Court in the last century proclaimed the "justice" of equal but separate treatment for Negroes. This is clear self-contradiction in retrospect and the Court has now reversed itself and said so, but it did this gradually and over many decades. The situation — with our highest tribunal fumbling in dealing with this troubous racial problem — indicates the problem of the individual citizen trying to cope with it.

The best of our political leadership and virtually all of our religious leadership is calling for an expression of American greatness in hurrying full civil rights status for Negroes. The Negro organizations are complicating this progress, but except for their resolute position and demands it would not have progressed nearly as far as it has. We are faced here with a situation in the field of human rights that parallels that of the earlier struggle of the unions for economic rights. Excesses are used to discredit the movement, but history will record its triumph because it fits our American codes of rights and morals.

The North's tendency is to regard the problem as largely that of Dixie, but the problem is national. Washington, D. C. has the largest proportion of Negroes of any large American city (over half) and Chicago is our largest Negro city. In Michigan the state's new Constitution clause on civil rights in housing is currently opposed by a petition campaign. The Citizens For American White Racial Freedom campaign in the Upper Peninsula is headquartered at Iron Mountain.

Although the Supreme Court's order for integration of schools in the South is nearly a decade old, little progress, numerically, has been made there in this effort. Much remains to be done. And much remains to be done in the development of acceptance by Americans of equal rights for all Americans.

The degree of resolution of Negro leaders in their campaign for equal civil rights can be gauged by their call for the march on Washington with its enormous danger of violence in that tense city, already smirched by serious racial strife.

The Doctor Says:

Everyone Spends Dream Time

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

If your friends call you a dreamer, chances are you are rapid movements of the eyes, given to flights of fancy. But there was no movement of other when we sleep everyone is a parts of the body. When the dreamer, although some of us dream was over the arms and legs have greater difficulty remem- might move.

This suggests that, even when you dream that you are running down a steep hill, it is as though you were sitting, enthralled, watching yourself from a distance and only when the dream is finished do you stretch yourself.

The reason some people say they never dream can now be explained. If you are awakened in the middle of a vivid dream you can remember most of its details.

If you are awakened when the curtain has just come down on the last act, you remember the dream more vaguely and, if you are not awakened until four or five minutes after the end of the dream, you cannot even remember that you had been dreaming.

When an attempt was made to distract sleepers by ringing a bell or letting cold water drip on them, these external stimuli were woven into the dreams.

Students who acted as paid guinea pigs for these observations were found to have a fairly consistent pattern, consisting of a dream lasting five to 10 minutes early in the sleeping period, then one every hour or so thereafter. The length of the dreams increased to as much as 25 minutes. There were about five dreams a night, and a total of about an hour and a quarter of dreaming.

The idea once held that a dream which would require 10 minutes to live through could flash through the mind in a few seconds has been decisively disproved.

The students who acted as subjects were not paid just to sleep. They permitted the observers to wake them up and record their dreams. When they were awakened in the early hours of sleep that would end the dream—but when they were awakened during one of the longer dream sequences at a later period, they would often fall asleep and have a continuation of the same dream.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Washington is literally holding its breath until the Aug. 28 March for Freedom and Jobs by from 100,000 to maybe 300,000 civil rights advocates is all over and done with.

If it comes off as the orderly demonstration its organizers have planned, it can be a dramatic and impressive example for the world of a peaceful peoples' protest.

It could be reduced to a fiasco by a little think like a late summer afternoon thunderstorm.

The presence of sympathetic white marchers—perhaps a fourth of the total—is good insurance against racial disturbances.

Unintentional accidents creating panic are the most serious concern.

If you are awakened when the curtain has just come down on the last act, you remember the dream more vaguely and, if you are not awakened until four or five minutes after the end of the dream, you cannot even remember that you had been dreaming.

When an attempt was made to distract sleepers by ringing a bell or letting cold water drip on them, these external stimuli were woven into the dreams.

Students who acted as paid guinea pigs for these observations were found to have a fairly consistent pattern, consisting of a dream lasting five to 10 minutes early in the sleeping period, then one every hour or so thereafter.

The length of the dreams increased to as much as 25 minutes. There were about five dreams a night, and a total of about an hour and a quarter of dreaming.

The idea once held that a dream which would require 10 minutes to live through could flash through the mind in a few seconds has been decisively disproved.

The students who acted as subjects were not paid just to sleep. They permitted the observers to wake them up and record their dreams.

When they were awakened in the early hours of sleep that would end the dream—but when they were awakened during one of the longer dream sequences at a later period, they would often fall asleep and have a continuation of the same dream.

APPRECIATION

Last week seventy-one Junior High students from Escanaba Area Public Schools spent a week in the Hiawatha National Forest at the Clear Lake Group Camp.

The opportunity for intensive study of instrumental music along with wholesome recreation was brought about by many people outside our school system. We were helped in the wholly self-supporting venture by scholars from the Kiwanis Club, Lemmies PTA, and private individuals. Several merchants donated food and camping supplies.

The week ended with a concert in a natural amphitheater within the forest. To hear young people performing Beethoven, Purcell and Granados makes us realize the great potential of our youth. That so many people helped in the venture shows the faith Escanaba has in her young people.

Many sincere thanks, David Laakso, Junior High Band Instructor and Camp Director

THE CHALLENGE

Recent publicity as to my personal interests in property or properties has somewhat mushroomed into civic news. Many Escanabians are interested in what some to be a problem—the addition of a community college to our city.

Perhaps we should be more concerned with considering this addition as a challenge!

The college is a challenge to all who wish, hope and work for its growth and progress. The establishment here in Escanaba is present; the many who have made it a reality will always be a part of the past, all of us who take

Fish Market Plan Approved

Informal approval for lease of city-owned land in the harbor area to Robert Sellman for a fish market was given Monday night by City Council.

The original "Big Six" organizers—James Farmer, Martin Luther King, John Lewis, A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins and Whitney Young—have become a "Big Ten."

The additional leaders are Matthew Ahmann of National Catholic Conference on Interracial Justice, Eugene Carson Blake of National Council of Churches, Joachim Prinz of American Jewish Conference and Walter Reuther of United Auto Workers. All will speak at the Lincoln Memorial in a two-to-three-hour program.

Unintentional accidents creating panic are the most serious concern.

The original $75,000 budgeted to cover march expenses has proved inadequate. It has been raised to nearly $125,000 by a $17,000 contribution from labor unions and $30,000 from churches and civic organizations. But still more is being sought to pay expenses of unemployed workers who want to march.

Sales of badges reading, "March on Washington For Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963" at 25 cents each is expected to raise $50,000 or more.

It will cost the District of Columbia nearly $100,000 to direct traffic, police the march, provide first aid and sanitary facilities, clean up the mess after it's over.

To handle the crowd will require 2,500 local police, another 1,000 in Virginia and Maryland, 2,000 National Guardsmen, nearly 1,000 Army Military Police and 2,000 parade marshals.

Legislators To Seek Control On Shoreline Usage

An Interim Legislative Committee on the Great Lakes Shoreline, headed by Rep. Hans C. Rasmussen (R-Ludington) conducted a public hearing in the State Office Building Tuesday afternoon seeking opinions concerning shorelines of the Great Lakes and submerged lands before suggesting legislation on the subject.

George Tack, a representative of the Michigan Department of Conservation, said the problem is a serious one and that action is needed to maintain and preserve the state's bodies of water.

"Some limit must be set as to how far out into the water, land development can be extended," said Tack. "There is no doubt that development along the shorelines is needed, but legislation which will provide for a uniform shoreline is needed," said Tack.

To Protect People

He cited an example whereby through industrial development downstate structures were built out into the water with no regard for properties on either side of the new construction. "Building out like this changes the currents of the water and unless provided for will bring in debris, wash in sand and generally deteriorate the shoreline properties on either side," Tack said.

As a means of establishing a limit as to how far land owners could jut out into the water with land development Tack suggested a bulkhead line. "If legislation to affect could be established no land development or construction would be permitted beyond the bulkhead line," he said.

Rep. Rasmussen said, "our main concern is for regulations protecting the little guy, the public. We're not trying to take anything away from anyone, but merely to see that the people get what is rightfully theirs."

Cite Shore Problem

Rasmussen cited an instance where a resident downstate fell heir to a piece of property with 25-feet of shore frontage. When

Limit School Bus Transport In City

Senior High School students (Grades 9 through 12) living within the Escanaba city limits will not be transported this year and the Escanaba Area Public Schools board of education proposes not to transport Junior High students in the city beginning with the 1964 school year.

The policy was adopted last night with recommendations of a board committee.

The school district receives no reimbursement from the state for transporting students within the city limits. The greatest distance any high school student resides from his school in Escanaba is one and three-quarter miles.

Because of the closing of the old Franklin School building there is some added transportation problem which will be solved when the building is replaced. Proposals to finance the replacement will be before the voters on Sept. 9.

Soo Hill Kindergarten

Bus T-1 will service the same area as last year, morning, noon and night. This area includes students living south of 18th Ave. S. to the city limits and west of 23rd St. as far as Old State Road.

Due to only a half day kindergarten session at the Soo Hill school, approximately one half of the 40 some registered children will be transported to the Wells Central School for the morning session. These students will be notified by letter before Sept. 5. If it is necessary to move additional students, they will be notified later.

Pupils in the Wells fifth and sixth grades will be assigned to the Senior High School. Last year they were transported to and from the Webster School and back to Wells for the lunch program. This shift will eliminate the noon bus run. Fifth and sixth graders can participate in the Senior High School lunch program.

Franklin Children

Kindergarten children at the Lemmer School will be re-assigned to the Jefferson. Select students on the north boundary of the Lemmer School area will walk to the Jefferson. Walking distance is not to exceed seven blocks.

Kindergarten and first grade children from the Franklin will go to the Jefferson. All children west of S. 8th St. in the Franklin

Coyne's Attend Dealer Meeting

Representatives of Coyne Chevrolet of 501 Stephenson Ave. were among the approximately 7,000 Chevrolet dealers and dealership executives in Detroit recently to attend the largest convention of its kind ever held in the auto industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coyne Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coyne and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Coyne of Coyne Chevrolet previewed the 1964 Chevrolet cars and trucks to be introduced this fall.

The dealer guests were welcomed by top Chevrolet officials including Simon E. Knudsen, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division, and Larry Averill, general sales manager.

Citing Chevrolet's all-time high rate of sales thus far this year, the two executives told dealers that the division expects to surpass in 1963 its record performance in 1962 when Chevrolet set new industry sales marks.

As a highlight of the convention programs, dealers were given an advance look at the new car and truck models.

Post Office To Handle First Class Mail In Strike

Postmaster James E. Pryal announced today that planes, trucks and buses will be pressed into service to move air and first class mail to its destination and to move other classes of mail within roughly a 150 mile radius of Escanaba in event of a nationwide rail strike.

Pryal has received instructions not to accept mailings other than first class, air mail and air parcel post which are destined for points beyond the second parcel post delivery zone, which extends generally about 150 miles from Escanaba, for the duration of any rail strike.

Service would be temporarily suspended on second class magazines and newspapers, third class matter and fourth class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second parcel post

Ann Landers

Premium On Sex

Dear Ann Landers: I read recently where our state crowned a 10-year-old girl "Little Miss Beautiful." She will be sent to Miami to compete in the Little Miss Universe contest. Two young stars and three mothers broke down and wept from disappointment when the winner was announced.

The whole thing is nauseating. How can we abide a society that puts a premium on sex-appeal, beauty and poise for 10-year-olds? How can we allow little girls to get the idea that their worth is measured by how they look strutting around in a bathing suit?

Please keep hammering away on the importance of letting children BE children instead of rushing them into an adult world with a lot of false standards. It could be your major contribution to a mixed up world.—AKRON, B. J.

Dear B. J.: Thank you for giving me another opportunity to zero in on one of my favorite targets.

It is not only nauseating, it is pathetic that parents would exploit 10-year-olds by putting them in a beauty contest. What these parents don't understand is that one of the principle incentives for achievement is destroyed when such phony values are emphasized. Why DO anything when you can get all that attention by just being beautiful? It's just too pitiful for words.

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound like a perfectly ridiculous letter but I do need help with a most unusual problem.

Last week I knocked my knee out of the socket and had to have a cast put on my entire leg. The leg is stiff now, of course, and I can't get a sock on. I live alone and there is no one who can help me.

It's terribly embarrassing to show up at the office with one naked foot. Do you know of a home remedy for this problem? Thanks in advance. — FORT WORTH BACHELOR

Dear Fort Worth: If you can't ask one person in this whole world to help you put a sock on, you have more serious problems than a naked foot.

It's difficult to determine from your letter if you are friendless or just shy. The best solution I can offer is this: Put a sock in your pocket when you leave the house in the morning. Then ask the very first male you meet if he will give you a hand with your foot. I can't imagine anyone saying no.

Dear Ann Landers: When my husband and I were married 15 years ago it was a double-ring ceremony. He wore his wedding ring constantly until about a year ago and then he began to leave the ring at home in the bureau drawer.

Last night I decided to ask him about this. He told me his foreman at the plant told him he should not wear any jewelry whatever on the job because it could cause an accident. Some of the men have lost fingers when their rings got caught on the machines.

I accepted this explanation and then suggested he carry the ring in his pocket to remind him that he is married. He said this was a nutty idea and he refuses to do it. Now I wonder if perhaps he is seeing someone who thinks he is single. We have five children and he's home every night. I've never had any reason to suspect him before now. What do you think?—UNEASY WIFE

Dear Uneasy: A father of five children doesn't need to carry his wedding ring in his pocket to remind himself that he is married. The grocery and shoe bills are reminder enough. Stop nagging the guy and putting ideas in his head. A man who is at home every night is not likely to be cheating.

Public Relations Of Universities In U.P. Surveyed

By JEAN WORTH

Cleland B. Wyllie, director of informational services at the University of Michigan, has finished his latest tour of the Upper Peninsula with a conviction.

It is that there is no substitution in university relations with the public for the personal contact. He cited the wide acquaintanceship of Mike Church, U-M Extension specialist in the arts, as an example of the sort of thing that he thinks the University can use more of outstate.

Church is on a first name basis with more artists in Michigan than any other person. He visits them periodically, judges their clothesline art shows, talks on art in church basements and at county fairs, solicits entries for art shows, keeps tab on national trends and markets, edits a monthly journal of chit-chat on art and artists in Michigan. Result: When Michigan Week, Santa Claus or the Ford Foundation has a question about Michigan art, someone suggests: "Ask Mike Church."

Changing Extension

Wyllie has been shoring up the University's relations in a visit to newspaper editors and other mass communicators. He has had his ear to windward for echoes of commendation or criticism of the university and has observed in the Upper Peninsula the spectacular growth of Northern Michigan University, its changing relationship with Michigan State University, and the general complexion of the public acceptance of the state's institutions of higher education.

One of Wyllie's enthusiasms is the University of Michigan Press Club, of which he has been the secretary since founding. He noted on his U.P. tour that a similar organization to serve the Upper Peninsula is being born under the friendly auspices of Northern Michigan University. "I suppose," said Wyllie with serious humor, "that none of our editors will be coming down to see us now?"

But of course he knows better, because the U-M Press Club football tickets are for Michigan State.

State Wins In Blue Shield Tiff

DETROIT (AP) — A new Blue Shield M-75 medical insurance contract today had the blessing of Insurance Commissioner Sherman Colburn—following an agreeable ruling by Wayne County Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn.

Bohn, in effect, ruled Monday that the medical insurance plan's rates are subject to commission approval. Colburn had withheld approval of the new contract demanding that it include a clause requiring his ratification 120 days prior to any rate change.

Blue Shield maintained it fulfilled its obligation by giving subscribers a 30-day warning of any change, and saying so in its contract.

Brown said the language suggested by Colburn need not be included in the new contract, but added that Colburn could exercise power over the medical insurance plan under the law and under a consent agreement he issued earlier.

The notice period sought by Colburn was made part of the consent order.

Judge Bohn said Colburn, who had withheld approval of the contract change, approved the M-75 revision after the judgment was issued.

Blue Shield subscribers are to be advised with 30 days of the contract changes, all of which were described as minor.

Brown reaffirmed Colburn's authority on rate increases, saying that Blue Shield must have his approval before it can raise its premiums.

"This clarifies beyond any doubt—even unreasonable—the fact that Blue Shield rate changes are subject to (insurance) department approval," Colburn said.

Pontiac Girl Is Named Queen Of Michigan's Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Age and beauty have received their reward at the 114th Michigan State Fair.

Susan Pill, an 18-year-old blonde from Pontiac, was chosen queen of the Fair over nine other finalists Tuesday night. She entered the contest as Romeo Peach Festival Queen.

Today, Miss Anna Marshall, of Marshall, and William E. Ackerman, 66, of Livonia, shared the state fair's "Senior Citizen of the Year" award. They were given plaques as part of the Old Timers' Day observance.

Miss Marshall, who confided that she is "about 81 years old," is a retired history and mathematics teacher at Marshall. Ackerman is a retired toolmaker.

Senior citizens were being admitted free until 3 p.m. today.

Tuesday's attendance was 87,380 compared with 74,356 on the same day last year.

MSU alumni are numerous in the Upper Peninsula, but its greatest link to the campus at East Lansing is its Extension staff, which administers both MSU's continuing education program and the Cooperative Extension Program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This staff, with headquarters in Marquette, has specialists in community planning, agricultural economics, dairying, agronomy, crops, home making and forestry, and it used to have one in education and can still draw on East Lansing for specialists in many other fields.

This leadership has a huge impact on Upper Peninsula education, particularly adult education.

The University of Michigan has no comparable staffing. Such staffing isn't suggested, but Wyllie was told in at least several places that the U-M can give Charles Follo more support in the U.P. and include the third of Michigan north of Mackinac more actively in the university's orbit.

New Arrangements

With MSU moving its U.P. Extension Center onto the Northern Michigan University campus at Marquette in the new year, a change in extension collaboration can be looked for.

The University of Michigan is not just another university downstate. It is the state's first and greatest university and no other institution can substitute for some of its services. It has one of the two state medical colleges. (The other is at Wayne State University.)

Flat Rock School To Open Sept. 3 With 430 Students

The Flat Rock Elementary School will open on Tuesday, Sept. 3, with a teachers' meeting scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in the multi-purpose room. The morning will be devoted to three section meetings and one in-service training session on the use of visual products, this section to be conducted by Dave Lane of Green Bay.

The school enrollment for 1963-1964 will be the largest in the school's history, with approximately 430 students registered.

The teaching staff will be composed of 13 teachers. There will be one change in transportation personnel, James Paquin replacing Mose Theoret who will retire after 12 years with the district.

The first day of school for the morning kindergarten class will be on Wednesday morning Sept. 4. School lunch and special milk programs will start Wednesday morning.

Equipment for the emergency communications link between Moscow and Washington is moved into the Joint Chiefs of Staff offices at the Pentagon. The "hot line," designed to reduce the risk of accidental conflict, is scheduled to go into operation in the near future. (NEA Telephoto)

Antibiotics May Retard Growth

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Prolonged and copious use of some antibiotics—wonder drugs—may present an overlooked hazard of growth retardation in humans, a biologist says.

This possibility is suggested by new evidence of growth-inhibiting powers of at least some antibiotics in plants—and previous evidence of the same thing in animals—said Dr. Edward G. Pollock of San Fernando Valley State College, Northridge, Calif.

He told a reporter about it in a report prepared for the annual convention of the American Institute of Biological Science, meeting at the University of Massachusetts. He amplified in an interview.

This strange faculty might have some advantageous use in controlling the growth of certain plants, said Dr. Pollock. But any defect of the antibiotics inhibiting growth of children and adolescents is something to be avoided. "Since it is now clear," he said in his report, "that some antibiotics are capable of retarding growth in both animals and plants, it appears that further examination of their effects on all living organisms, particularly man, is required."

He told a reporter such investigations should try to determine whether any antibiotics, including penicillin and streptomycin, have such a growth retarding effect when "used in great abundance over long periods of time."

Coed's Winter Coat Big Investment

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—During high school and college girls begin to learn about big fashion investments, for the choice of a winter coat is entirely theirs, without parental influence.

It's either their own hard-earned money they're spending, or an allowance with frustrating limitations, and they have to play it close to the line.

They learn to take stock of their wardrobes, and then search for outerwear investment with the largest fashion dividends.

Often they double their money with reversibles that are sportive or dressy.

One thing they learn to avoid is common stock. Who wants to look like the girl next door? But the very shrewd investors are not overlooking the utilities print coat and hood which is also reversible. At far right, the tailored vinyl suede coat has a mandarin collar as an oriental touch.

—coats that are water repellent, cusses the matter with her bank—easily cleaned, and warm without being tiringly heavy.

Girls research carefully before they buy. Is the hood a permanent fixture? Or does it zip off? Is the collar tall enough to ward off chill winds?

If it is a slim line, is it nevertheless ample enough to top bulky woolens likely to be worn beneath it without being uncomfortable? If it is a capestyle, are the arm slots right, are there extra buttons?

These days a girl finds that one big coat investment is not enough. She needs casual or sportive styles for school and daytime wear, but she requires elegant simplicity for dressy occasions, says the New York Coat and Suit Association.

Often they double their money with reversibles that are sportive or dressy.

One thing they learn to avoid is common stock. Who wants to look like the girl next door? But the very shrewd investors are not overlooking the utilities

Photographs Help Keep Close Friends Together

At school's beginning and end the frantic exchange of school pictures among the teens has puzzled more than one parent.

Why is it "absolutely essentially vital" to a 14-year-old to have pictures of all her dear chums she sees every day? This is the sort of fuddy-duddy question that causes our teen to roll her eyes heavenward.

Many of the small school pictures wind up in overstuffed wallets. As a change of pace—and adaptable to photographs of other favorites besides classmates—a teen-screen which is a room decoration and a functional screen is worth considering.

The one designed and made to illustrate this article was of particular interest to a young friend who will live at home while attending junior college. She wanted to shift her room out of its high school atmosphere to a more collegiate one.

Ex-Maid Tries To Kill Montgomery

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — A former housemaid was arrested for attempted murder after actor George Montgomery said she took a shot at him.

Police said a note in the woman's purse said she was going to kill Montgomery and herself because she didn't want him running around "with those stupid looking glamour girls."

Ruth Wenzel, 37, worked for Montgomery and his divorced wife, Dinah Shore, five years ago.

Montgomery, 46, said he spotted Miss Wenzel when he walked into his house Tuesday with airline stewardess Jo Ponce, 25. The maid rushed into a bedroom, pulled a .38 caliber revolver from under a pillow and pointed it at Montgomery, he said. When he grabbed it, it discharged. The shot left powder burns on the actor's face.

Police quoted Miss Wenzel as saying she broke into Montgomery's house Sunday and remained there until the actor returned from New York.

Police said the note in her purse read in part:

"... Would you please see that I get buried together with George. I love him so very, very much..."

Montgomery refused to discuss the maid or her story.

Msgr. D'Amour Speaks:*'New Generation' Challenge Facing Catholic Schools

The radical nature of changes made relative to the local schools that have taken place within the schools in which you teach," he said. "If American education during the past few years was described by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. O'Neil C. D'Amour to the Catholic Educational Association's Upper Peninsula convention opening today at Holy Name High School.

Msgr. D'Amour is associate secretary, School Superintendent Department, National Catholic Education Association, Washington, D. C., and is titular superintendent of schools for the Marquette Diocese.

Drawing upon his experience in working with schools and educational groups throughout the nation, he said change not as a familiar pattern of orderly and gradual development but as rather abrupt and startling departures from what has gone before.

Meet The Challenge

Such changes will involve vast and serious problems in the training of teachers at all levels, he said. They will necessitate complete cooperation between all segments of America's educational system, public, private and church related, he added.

Msgr. D'Amour outlined the steps that are being taken or will be taken within Catholic education to meet the challenge of this new era. Involved in these steps are changed patterns of administration, regional and national planning, cooperative financing, revolutionary alterations in teacher preparation and in-service programs.

He directed attention to the serious implications of the crisis of change for Catholic education. Hampered by a shortage of funds and confronted with a rate of growth twice that of public education, Catholic education must marshal its resources with utmost efficiency, if it is to provide traditional quality education and give needed leadership in education to the country and the world, he said.

Better Facilities

Catholic educators are confident that they can meet the present challenge and that the nation will be richer for having pluralism in education preserved, he said.

"Certain observations should be

The wonders of electronic science must be utilized—language laboratories, opaque projectors, radio, television, films and filmstrips. Finally, in respect to the local school, the teaching staff and the administration should be working in close cooperation with the teaching staff and administration of the public school. This is true, particularly where no Catholic secondary school exists, or where it is not adequate to provide the education for all the Catholic youth of the community."

Regional Planning

"It must be said that there is an essential element beyond you the teacher, and beyond your local school. This is the element of administration—the administration of the diocesan system, and coupled with this, administration in so far as the religious communities are concerned."

"Superintendents of schools throughout the country have come to recognize the fact that not even large archdiocesan systems can operate alone. They have come to recognize the need for regional and national planning. They have come to recognize the need for an effective, operating diocesan board of education composed of clergy, educators and laymen."

The challenge of education in this second half of the 20th Century rests more heavily upon the Catholic school system than upon any other. That challenge is, for the Catholic school, more difficult than it is for any other, said Msgr. D'Amour.

"The reason that it rests more heavily is that the new generation of Catholics within our classrooms is the first generation truly to have reached the fullness of American citizenship. This generation of Catholics has moved out of the ghetto, and now, together with the privileges of citizenship, must bear the responsibility of citizenship. They must be provided with the kind of education that will enable them as Catholic Americans to give leadership to this nation in all fields of endeavor."

New Generation

"They are the first generation to be outside the protective walls erected by the Catholic minority—the first generation from which the church and the nation have a right to expect true leadership. The kind of education which we give them within our classrooms will determine whether that leadership will be forthcoming. This, indeed, should weigh heavily upon us."

The challenge is more difficult for us in Catholic education. First of all, because we the teachers come out of such a very different environment. Most of us are products of the Catholic ghetto. Now we must divest ourselves of the ghetto mentality if we are, in a proper manner, to educate the new generation."

The challenge is more difficult for our schools because we do not have the resources of the public purse to aid us in our efforts. While I am convinced that the basic sense of justice of our fellow citizens one day will demand that we be given help, in the meantime, it is incumbent upon us to use our ingenuity in the marshalling of our resources in the improving and extending of the Catholic schools system which, I believe, to be the hope of our country and, in a natural sense, the hope of our faith in the country and in the world," Msgr. D'Amour concluded.

State Would Be Hurt Seriously By Rail Tieup

By The Associated Press

If the nation's rails are idled by a strike tonight at midnight, the economic blow to Michigan would be particularly cruel.

Southern Michigan, with its automotive, processed foods and furniture industries, would suffer almost immediately. In the Upper Peninsula, where iron and copper mines can stockpile their produce, the full brunt of the rail strike could be delayed about a month.

Ward's Automotive reports gives the production of 1964 model cars only 72 hours after the start of a general rail strike. The world's automaking capital, Detroit, could look for mass layoffs numbering in the tens of thousands within the week.

Automotive layoffs would punish southern Lower Michigan at once. General Motors is the biggest single employer in Grand Rapids, with 6,000 employees. And the secondary effects, to suppliers of components, would follow closely by the end of auto production.

Warehouse Problem

The world's largest manufacturer of public seating, American Seating Co., of Grand Rapids, fears a strike might mean there would be no desks for many schoolchildren when the academic year starts.

At Battle Creek, the "Cereal Capitol of the World," breakfast food firms indicated their fear is not so much being unable to get raw materials as being unable to get their products out of town.

Stockpiled grain could keep manufacturing going a year, and the only major in-shipments by rail are tank cars of liquid sugar. But, without rail service out of town, warehouses would be filled within hours.

The Upper Peninsula ports of Escanaba and Marquette could expect immediate layoffs of hundreds of persons engaged in transferring iron from the Marquette, Menominee and Gogebic ranges from rail to Great Lakes ships.

This is one of the busiest years in recent history for the ore business.

Gagnon jumped from his car and fled into the woods. Additional officers arrived, searched out the hiding man and took him to jail.

The challenge is more difficult for our schools because we do not have the resources of the public purse to aid us in our efforts. While I am convinced that the basic sense of justice of our fellow citizens one day will demand that we be given help, in the meantime, it is incumbent upon us to use our ingenuity in the marshalling of our resources in the improving and extending of the Catholic schools system which, I believe, to be the hope of our country and, in a natural sense, the hope of our faith in the country and in the world," Msgr. D'Amour concluded.

Hospital

Patients admitted to St. Francis

Hospital on Tuesday included:

Mrs. Robert Calouette, Rte. 1, Gladstone; Mrs. Carlton Johnson, Rte. 1, Escanaba; Norbert Roberts, 816 1st Ave. S.; Mrs. Isabella Murray, Rte. 1, Ensign; David Grentel, 213 S. 4th St.; Robert Appel, 511 1st Ave. S.; and Jeanie Pare of 1600 N. 18th St.

Lester A. "Danny" Danielson, 508 S. 7th St., is in St. Francis Hospital where he is recuperating from a heart attack. His condition today is described as good and he is permitted visitors. Danielson is the wire editor of the Escanaba Daily Press. He is expected to remain in the hospital from six to eight weeks.

Supervisor Faces Campaign Charge In Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — An elected official waived examination Tuesday on a misdemeanor charge of failing to list all of his campaign contributions.

He is Lorin E. Evans, 44, a Democrat and Supervisor of Shelby Township.

Justice Francis Castellucci dismissed a bribery charge against Evans after the felon complaint was withdrawn by the co-owners of the Ramona Park Land Co., Meyer Weiner and Harold Goldsmith, both of Oak Park.

Weiner and Goldsmith had accused Evans, in their original complaint, of demanding $5,000 to stop police from ticketing their trucks. They also had alleged that Evans wanted the money in return for letting them build an incinerator on their 38-acre site in the township.

The property is used for a land fill rubbish dump.

Weiner and Goldsmith said Evans did not list campaign contributions from them and two other company officials.

Evans was freed on $500 bond to await Circuit Court arraignment.

Game Violator Pays $100 Fine

GLADSTONE — John Verbriggie, 31, St. Nicholas, pleaded guilty to having the carcass of a doe deer in possession when arrested before Justice Ross Davis today.

Verbriggie was arrested by Conservation Officer James Walker Tuesday in Baldwin Township.

He was assessed a fine of $100 and costs of $7.30 or 30 days in jail. He paid the fine and his license was revoked for three years.

Briefly Told

Application for a marriage license was made Tuesday by Joseph B. Brey of Rte. 1, Munising and Patricia Ann Roberts of Rapid River.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hyde 4-H Club was held after a corn roast Tuesday. Ribbons were presented to winners at the U.P. State Fair. Members were appointed to various clubs at the meeting. The next meeting will be Sept. 16.

The Big Country music spectacle, presented by Sheriff Cully Johnson and the Escanaba Amvets to raise funds for the Retarded Children's School, will get underway at 7 p. m. Thursday in the William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, Junior High School. A second performance will be given at 9:15 p. m. A fee will be charged with proceeds going to the school building fund. The entertainers are from Nashville, Tenn.

Carl A. Nelson, popular Escanaba vocalist, will give a recital at 7:30 p. m. this Sunday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Marquette. The major portion of his recital will consist of arias from two oratorios, "Judas Maccabaeus" and "The Messiah," both by Handel. The series of recital commemorates the late Alex Hamby, who for many years was organist and choir director at St. Paul's.

Editor's note: At this writing, no one has, but drilling continues.

What kept us going down there? I can only guess. It must have been our will power, our strong wish to get out. We prayed two or three times an hour. "Dear Lord, help us get out, help us get out." I said aloud over and over.

By about the sixth day, I figure now, we were just about where we started when we began looking for a way out. We were now in a chamber about six feet long and six feet wide and almost

The mine inspector said it would take about five or six hours to complete the new ventilating system and continue the search.

However, Hatis held out hope the men might still be alive. He said they could have found air pockets in the two lateral tunnels in which they were working.

Frank Tippie, head of the potash division of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., operator of the mine, said the rescue teams had not established contact with the trapped men.

"There's a Chance"

Asked if there was any chance the men were alive, Tippie said: "I wouldn't even attempt a guess. I think there's a chance."

He said they had been using dynamite.

More than 30 men were directly involved in the rescue attempt. They were going down one crew of three at a

Interest is mounting steadily in Escanaba's first professional boxing show in over two decades as the Saturday night fight date nears. Promoter Dick Ludwig is in town making last-minute arrangements for the five-bout card headlined by the Michigan middleweight championship battle between Manistique's Pete Bosanic and Jim Davis of Detroit.

Bosanic will wind up his training at the Big D Gym in Detroit today and will be here Thursday to taper off for the big night in his fistic career. Trimmed down to a hungry 160 pounds, Bosanic will be a formidable figure in the squared circle at the new Escanaba Area High School gym Saturday. The hard-punching, durable young man (he won't be 22 until September) has been building up to this moment for many years.

In the past now are six brilliant performances in which he captured Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves crowns before the same fans that will see him in action as a professional. Since turning pro, Bosanic has had a flawless record, fighting seven times and winning each start. His last four opponents failed to hear the final bell.

Davis carries an imposing record into the scrap. The 24-year-old Detroit fighter won three Golden Gloves crowns in the Motor City prior to embarking on his professional campaign. He has won 12 straight starts, scoring seven knockouts, and has gained valuable experience in recent years by working out with the best pros in metropolitan Detroit.

Ludwig, a close student of the boxing game, rates Davis as by far the toughest test Bosanic has come up against. "Davis is ring-wise, a powerful hitter and can take a punch with the best," Ludwig says of Bosanic's opponent. But he adds: "Pete has been working for this opportunity for a long time and he'll be in razor sharp condition. He has tremendous stamina and all the determination in the world. If desire counts, Pete will come out of this fight as the new Michigan middleweight champion."

Ludwig has lined up what looks like a good preliminary card with fighters from Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio slated for action. But when the overhead lights blink out and the ring spotlight glares down on the canvas Saturday night, fans here will have only one fighter in mind—the Manistique Mauler.

Two Young Arms Seals On Yankee Baseball Dynasty

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They belong to New York pitchers Al Downing, 22, a lefty, and Jim Bouton, 24, a right-hander. Between them they contain the promise of Yankee domination of the American League for years to come.

Sunday, Downing had a no-hitter going for seven innings and finished with a two-hit shutout, running his record to 10-4. It was Bouton's turn Tuesday. He had a no-hitter for eight innings, and finished with a two-hit, 5-0 shutout, running his record to 18-6, best on the Yankee staff.

Ralph Terry, at 27, old only by comparison, finished off the twin-night doubleheader against Boston with a five-hit, 3-0 job. It was his 15th victory and stretched the Yankees' bulging league lead to 12½ games.

In other AL games, Chicago pulled into a share of second place with idle Minnesota by beating Cleveland 6-1, Kansas City edged Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit topped Los Angeles 4-1 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Cincinnati 3-2, San Francisco walloped St. Louis 7-2, Milwaukee edged Houston 3-2 behind Warren Spahn, Pittsburgh got two unearned runs in the ninth and beat New York's Mets 2-1, and Chicago tripped Philadelphia 4-3.

The twin shutouts by Bouton and Terry were the third and fourth in the Yanks' last five games. The Yankee staff has allowed only two runs in the last 51 innings, both in a 2-1, 12-inning loss to Chicago in the second game of a Sunday doubleheader.

Bouton is one of the big surprises. He had only a 7-7 record last season, started this year in the bullpen and has blossomed into the Yanks' No. 1 right-hander.

The hard-throwing youngster had allowed only two base runners and had retired 22 men in order before Boston pinch hitter Russ Nixon singled past his ear leading off the ninth.

Bouton let down a bit after that and Gary Geiger followed with another single, but he got out of it without trouble.

The Yanks gave him all the backing he needed with two first-inning runs on singles by Bobby Richardson and Elston Howard and doubles by Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez.

The White Sox' Dave Nicholson struck out four times, setting a major league season record of 144, but Tom McCraw and Pete Ward each drove in two runs with a homer and single in Chicago's victory over the Indians.

Regan Is Better Pitcher Because Dressen Is There

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Phil Regan is pitching better for the Tigers because of the little man who's always there.

The little man is Charlie Dressen and Regan credits his new manager's advice with helping him improve.

"It seems every time I warm up between starts Charlie's there, always watching and making suggestions," Regan said after stifling Los Angeles on four hits Tuesday night and pitching the Tigers into fifth place with a 4-1 victory.

Regan has been an entirely different pitcher since Dressen took over June 18. On that day, Regan had a 2-6 record and had been dropped from the regular starting rotation. But in 1963 A.D.—after Dressen—Regan stands 8-1.

Greater Variety

"I guess greater variety is the reason for my success," said Regan. "Charlie suggested I throw more sinkers and curves. So I'm throwing more sinkers, have more confidence in my curve and my fastball is riding."

Regan is only one shy of equaling his most productive season, last year, when he was an 11-game winner. Former Manager Bob Scheffing always felt Regan would become a big winner if he could harness his curve.

Regan feels he has done that in the Dressen regime.

"I think I have a better curve now," said the Michigan-bred right-hander. "I'm throwing it harder and I've got control of it. I used to be afraid to throw it because I didn't always know where it was going."

All four hits off Regan were singles as the Tigers rattled off their sixth straight victory. They've won nine of the last 10 games and 16 of the last 22.

Their August hot streak—19-7 for the month—has vaulted them from ninth to fifth in the American League in two weeks. They moved past Cleveland and Boston by beating the Angels.

Baltimore Next

Next is Baltimore, 7½ games away in fourth, and Dressen believes the Tigers can overtake the Orioles, too.

"They've only lost five more games than us, so if we keep winning we'll have a chance because we play six more games with them," said Dressen, who has brought the Tigers from 17 games under .500 to four under at 62-66.

Regan received most of his offensive and defensive help from Al Kaline. Kaline lined a run-producing single in the three-run third and hit his 24th homer in the sixth.

The Angels scuffed up Regan only in the seventh. Kaline took the sting out of LA's only rally with a brilliant throw.

Out of Jam

Billy Moran reached base on an error and came in to score the only run on singles by Lee Thomas and Bob Sadowski. Sadowski tried for a double on his hit into the right field corner and was gunned down by Kaline's throw while off-balance. Regan calmly retired the next two batters and escaped from the jam.

Singles by Gus Triandos and George Smith started the Tigers' three-run third against Ken McBride. They scored on ground balls before Kaline drove in the third run with his 24th.

Kaline's two hits, running his hitting streak to 14 games, left him at .321, two points behind Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in the batting race. His two runs batted in lifted his output to 90, three fewer than Boston's Dick Stuart, the leader.

The Tigers play the Angels again today. Dressen chose Frank Lary (3-6) to pitch against Dean Chance (11-15).

Eagles Release Hoppy Cassidy

By The Associated Press

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy and Sandy Stephens, All-Americans in their college days, have received their walking papers as pros.

Cassidy, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1955 as the top college player while at Ohio State, was placed on waivers by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Stephens, All-American quarterback at Minnesota in 1961, was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League with the Alouettes.

"Bluntly, we're paying him off," said Dan Pickett, director of the Alouettes' player development.

Stephens signed a $70,000 contract in 1962 and has two years to go.

He was unimpressive as a rookie last season and was benched as overweight in the Alouettes' third game of the season last week.

Cassady, 29, a six-year-NFL veteran with Detroit, Cleveland and the Eagles, played 10 games with Philadelphia as a split end last season before he was sidelined with a broken right leg. He has played only a few minutes in Philadelphia exhibitions this season and his release apparently means that Baylor rookie Ronnie Goodwin has won the job.

He was the best known player to get the ax as the NFL and American Football League made cuts, the NFL teams cutting their rosters to 43, the AFL to 38.

Mead Picks Up Three Players For Downstate

High School Football Season Opens Friday

Three Area Teams Set For Weekend Contests

The Upper Peninsula high school football season swings into action this weekend with 13 games on Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Grididers from throughout the region will have completed three weeks of intensive practice sessions by this weekend and will charge into action with a batch of non-conference contests for the most part.

The 1963 campaign will continue through Oct. 26.

Holy Name enters the season as defending Upper Peninsula champion after winning the Floyd Barber Trophy with a 7-1 record last fall. The U.P. prep grid title is determined by a vote of Peninsula sports writers at their annual fall meeting. Wayne Melchiori of Ironwood was named the U.P. coach of the year.

Defending conference champions this year will be Escanaba in the Great Lakes, Ironwood in the Michigan-Wisconsin, Houghton in the Copper Country, Kingsford in the Menominee Range, Rudyard in the Eastern Little Seven and Rock in the Wolverine.

Four players who received All-Upper Peninsula recognition last year will be back in action this fall. They are Tom Domres of Gladstone, a first team selection, and Ron Tortelli of Kingsford, Dick Berlinski of Kingsford and Don Mylchreest of Stambaugh, second team choices.

Berlinski, a junior this year, was the fourth leading scorer in the U.P. last year with 78 points. Other scorers among the top 15 last fall who will be back to haunt foes this year include Jim Lindstrom of Iron Mountain, Steve Nyquist of Marquette, Dan Schram of Gladstone and Jim Carlson of Negauke.

Holy Name will be one of the first teams in action, traveling to Stephenson Friday night for a game at 8.

Escanaba swings into action at home Saturday in a resumption of one of the oldest prep rivalries in the Upper Peninsula, hosting the Menominee Maroons at 2:30.

Gladstone makes its season debut Saturday in a home stand against Norway of the Menominee Range circuit. The kickoff is at 2.

Boat Explodes, Driver Is Okay

DETROIT (AP)—Marv Henrich, a substitute driver who was catapulted from an exploding hydroplane on the Detroit River, was reported in good condition at a hospital today.

A spokesman at Receiving Hospital said Henrich, 33, apparently escaped serious injury when Mariner Too blew up Tuesday during a fast trial run for the Governor's Trophy Race at Madison, Ind., next weekend.

Walter Kade, driving behind driver Fred Alter, who suffered burns when Mariner Too burst into flames two weeks ago in the Seafair Trophy Race at Seattle.

The boat's owner, James A. Herrington of Grosse Pointe Woods, said today he was through with hydroplane racing.

Herrington, a newcomer to the sport, purchased Miss Detroit in February from Chuck Thompson and renamed it Mariner Too.

"A boat can be easily replaced," said Herrington, "but twice now in the past few weeks I have seen my drivers narrowly escape death."

Henrich was hurtled about 50 feet away from the 32-foot Mariner Too. He was unconscious when Henry Sims, operator of a pleasure boat, reached him.

Kade stopped Blue Chip and dived into the water to help in the rescue. Sims said he kept Henrich afloat until a Coast Guard boat

Giants Hurting At Fullback Spot

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—The New York Giants will be almost out of able-bodied fullbacks when they meet the Green Bay Packers in an exhibition game Monday night in Green Bay, in a rematch between the two teams that have met for the National Football League title the last two years.

Alex Webster, the starter at that spot, is still ailing and will not play, the Giants said Tuesday. Halfback Phil King, who shifted to fullback for the exhibition with the Minnesota Vikings last week, also will miss the Packers game because of rib injuries.

Two halfbacks probably will play at the fullback position, rookie Charlie Killett of Memphis State and Jim Pace, former '49er and University of Michigan star.

Veteran Hugh McElhenny will see a lot of action at halfback.

Joe Morrison, normally an end-flanker, may be used at fullback too.

Three Golfers Share Honors

ORCHARD LAKE (AP)—Three golfers shared medalist honors Tuesday in leading the seven Michigan qualifiers for the National Amateur Golf Championship Sept. 9-14 at Des Moines.

Sam Kocsis of Bloomfield Hills, Gene Woodard of Grosse Pointe and Pete Green of Franklin all fired 36-hole totals of 145 over the par 36-36-72 Orchard Lake Country Club course.

Two strokes back were Fred Ewald of Birmingham and Tom Draper of Royal Oak, while Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak and Ray Palmer of Grosse Ile each shot 148.

Woodard shot a brilliant 68 on his opening round for the best round posted by the 62 entrants.

Mays Joins Elite Homerun Society With 400th Blast

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has the world on a string, but that hasn't kept the San Francisco Giants from riding a yo-yo in that National League pennant race.

Mays became the 10th major leaguer to reach the 400-homer level when he connected in the third inning Tuesday night, triggering a homer salvo that powered the Giants to a 7-2 victory over St. Louis and into a second-place tie with the Cardinals.

Both the Giants and Cardinals are 6 1/2 games back of pacesetting Los Angeles.

The Dodgers, who have held the top spot without interruption since July 5, edged Cincinnati 3-2 as Frank Howard slugged a key two-run homer.

Mays has been trying to keep the Giants within striking distance, but the defending champions have been going up-and-down with such regularity that they actually have lost ground while Mays has hit safely in 27 of 28 games.

On July 28, Willie was hitting .274 with 22 homers and 55 runs batted in. Since then he has hit 10 homers, driven in 31 runs and brought his average up to .308—and the Giants have fallen from 4 1/2 back to 6 1/2 behind.

While Willie was collecting his 32nd home run, Hank Aaron took over the league lead from the Giants' Willie McCovey. Aaron hit his 35th and Warren Spahn posted his 17th victory in Milwaukee's 3-2 decision over Houston.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 4-3.

Howard's homer, the first for Los Angeles in nine games, gave the Dodgers a 2-1 lead in the second inning. Then, mustering two of their five hits, the weak-hitting Dodgers put across the decisive run in the third on singles by pitcher Pete Richert and Maury Wills, a wild pitch by Bob Purkey, 6-9, and Wally Moon's grounder. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds in the fourth but Richert, 2-1, and Ron Perranoski pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way.

Spahn, 17-5 and headed for his 13th 20-victory season, shook off a shaky start and recorded his fifth straight complete game victory behind Aaron's hitting. Aaron tied the score with a two-run homer off Don Nottebart, 8-6, in the fourth, before scoring the tie-breaking run in the ninth when he singled, stole second and came around on singles by Mathews and Joe Torre.

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to 12 1/2 games by beating Boston 5-0 and 3-0, the Chicago White Sox belted Cleveland 6-1, Detroit downed the Los Angeles Angels 4-1 and Kansas City nipped Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings. Minnesota and Washington were not scheduled.

An error by Ken Boyer helped the Giants to a 3-0 lead in the second inning against Curt Simmons, 11-7, before Mays connected leading off the third. Orlando Cepeda followed with his 21st homer and Felipe Alou made it three in a row with his 16th. That was more than enough for Jack Sanford, who scattered eight hits for a 13-12 record. Julian Javier's two-run homer accounted for the Cardinal runs.

While Willie was collecting his 32nd home run, Hank Aaron took over the league lead from the Giants' Willie McCovey. Aaron hit his 35th and Warren Spahn posted his 17th victory in Milwaukee's 3-2 decision over Houston.

Use Memory To Refresh Spirit

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's take a look back along the way.

When the world is too much with us, the best escape is to recall a time when things were different.

Your memory is still hitting on all eight cylinders if you can remember when—

Movie actresses were expected to have class and stature—like Clare Kimball Young.

Shirley Temple's dimples had been seen by more people than the Grand Canyon.

People said Enrico Caruso had a voice so powerful that when he sang in a small room it would break the windows.

It was part of the action in a Chinese restaurant for the waiters to pretend they couldn't understand

English well. That kind of lent the place a shuddery sense of mystery.

The only people who ate pizzas were those just over from the old country.

Rin-Tin-Tin earned more take-home pay than Lassie.

The greatest test of a middle-aged man's athletic ability was having to climb into the upper berth of a Pullman car.

You could always achieve a sound social position in the community by playing a good game of checkers.

No husband had to bother about keeping his wife's cigarettes lit—as good women didn't smoke in public.

No woman needed more than $5 to go to the grocery store, because who could carry home that much worth of groceries?

The common man was in favor of high income taxes because he felt only the rich would ever have to pay them.

Only cowboys wore high heels. The people in comic strips were always slipping on banana peels, or being hit by flying bricks—but they never seemed to have any emotional problems.

It cost less to spend a full year in college than it now takes to send a small, squirming child to camp for a month in the summer.

Many high school seniors could write in Latin an essay containing fewer misspelled words than one written in English by a modern student today.

If a girl had a tan she was from the country. City girls prided themselves on their milk-white complexions.

People in most small towns never locked the front door unless they were going on a long trip.

You could impress the average gathering by whipping out a snapshot of yourself taken on top of Pike's Peak. That let them know you were someone who'd really been around.

You didn't have to land on the moon to become a hero. All you had to do was stop a runaway horse single-handed.
